CATHEDRAL NOTES.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament is given every Wednesday night and officers of the cross on Friday during Lent.

The members of the League of the Cross met last Sunday afternoon.
Services will be held at the state penitentiary on Sunday.

Miss Harris of the Cathedral choir scored a great success at the Grand theatre last Sunday night at the Hill land concert. Miss Harris is a pupil of Mr. J. K. Sullivan. She has a fine lyric soprano voice that has been well trained.

CONCERT NOTES.

The final rehearsal will be held at the Theatre Saturday morning at 9 o'clock sharp.

The little ones from St. Ann's will sing one very pretty number taught them by Sister Angelina. Miss Florence Patterson will be the accompanist.

The programme will begin at 8:15 sharp Saturday.

All taking part in the programme are expected to be at the Theatre at 7 o'clock Saturday.

No one will be allowed on the stage but those taking part and the young ladies who have been invited to assist.
Thirty ladies have been asked to assist on the stage and positively no one else will be allowed behind the scenes.
This notice is hoped, will be sufficient, because those in charge do not want the disagreeable duty of ordering any one from the stage, but such will be done if necessary.

The boys wear their best suit, a knee tie, a cane tied with green ribbon and a high hat.

SUCCESS.

To succeed one must have high ideals, take no risks, confidence, business to legitimate channels. All our clients are treated equally, and we will have no one in our employment who is rude, gruff or unkind. Our present quarters in the center of business are large, commodious and attractive. We needed them to keep pace with our growing business, which had to be systematized.
Each transaction is complete before our client leaves. He knows he will be notified when interest is due and principal payable. We have made money for thousands. That is the measure of our great success.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

M. Flinnery, one of Denver's prominent citizens, visited Salt Lake City for a day or two's sight seeing, this week.

W. C. Douglas, of Denver, Colo., president of the M. J. O'Fallon Supply company, one of the most substantial commercial enterprises of the metropolis of the Centennial state, spent several days visiting our city during the present week, and honored this office with a call. He was accompanied by Mrs. Douglas. They were on their return trip from California, after a sojourn of several months for the benefit of the health of Mrs. Douglas.

C. J. Giffey, formerly owner and editor of the Negeance (Mich.) News, passed through Salt Lake on his homeward journey from the coast. While in the city Mr. Giffey paid a friendly visit to our esteemed townsman, Dr.
Scallion.

James P. Delcor, postmaster at Eureka, paid this city a visit last week.
Former Senator Thomas Kearns returned home from Washington, Wednesday, and in a published interview announces his intention of promptly resuming the active management of his business interests in the state.

Senator Reed Smoot passed through the city en route to his home in Provo.

A successful operation for appendicitis was performed on Edward Veltz, the 35-year-old son of Oswald Veltz, 31 Main street, at the Hospital of the Holy Cross. The boy has the wound well and will soon be able to return to his home.

Mrs. Fred Hale, who has been visiting in the east for several weeks, has returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knox have returned from California.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sinclair have gone to California.

Joseph Dedrichs of this city has secured the contract to build the new hotel at Twin Falls City. It will cost $20,000 and be finished in four months.

Harold Siefert left early in the week for a brief trip to Nevada.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Quigley left yesterday for New York, and later will go to Palm Beach, Fla.

The Press club has received from General Passenger Agent D. E. Burke who lately returned from Tahiti, two coconut crabs which he procured in the islands and brought home with him.
The crustaceans are creating much interest in the new clubrooms.

Miss Nellie Cullen entertained some thirty-five friends at a party on Thursday afternoon in compliment to her friend, Mrs. Graham Hurdman. All the appointments were carried out in a way characteristic of entertainments at the Cullen home. Miss Nellie Merrill and Miss Beatrice O'Connor won the beautiful prizes.

James Mahr has returned from a business trip to New York.

Manager Biefuss of the Walker Bros. company returned during the past week from New York.

President Frank Knox of the National Bank of the Republic has returned from a five weeks' trip to California. Mr. Knox states that the golden state is very prosperous. There has been so much rain this winter that the soil is thoroughly soaked, and there is promise of a bumper output of all kinds of crops. The population is increasing, industries are growing, and cities and towns, particularly Los Angeles, are building at a rapid rate.

is visiting her mother, Mrs. Mary Kirk.

Mrs. John Farley of Victor, Colo., is visiting Miss Julia Farley for a few weeks.

John Leary of Eureka is visiting Mrs. Daniel Harrington.

Miss Marie Luce has returned from an extended visit in Oakland.

Edward McCurtin returned last Saturday from a trip to southern Nevada.

Miss Mamie Fallon went up to Park City on Friday.

Miss Maude Hurley went up to Park City on Monday to visit her mother.

ST. MARY'S ACADEMY.

St. Joseph.

Oh, by what hidden paths to that far height Of godly virtue didst thou make thy way?

What kindly conquests counting in the fray, With powers that ever war against the right?

What angel converse and thoughts lily white Beguiled the weary years, while thou didst pray

Like Simon for the dawning of that day
Which was to give to earth the Prince of Light.

Ah! surely thou didst know the answering gleam That must have pierced thy soul with sweetest joy.

When on thy spousal day thou didst behold Mary, the Morning Star, and then in dream

Gathered assurance sweet without allow
That soon these arms would all life's hope unfold.

Our Solution of the Hat Question.

BY F. O'N.

From a recent editorial in one of our Salt Lake dailies we see that it has been proposed and carried that women should henceforth dispense with the time-honored custom of wearing hats in church. It appears that the subject has been agitated for some time; and although the convent girl has not been called upon for an expression of opinion, her views might not prove altogether unworthy of consideration.

The editor of the above mentioned paper facetiously condones with the woman of fashion who will now be forced to sacrifice an elegant hat to the whim of such a prefer a view of the pulpit and its occupant, and in view of the fact that Easter without my lady's bonnet would scarcely be the same, he urges that a single exception to the law be granted in favor of the church.

Next to the fact that the subject has been agitated for some time, and although the convent girl has not
opinion, her views might not prove

RHYMING CHRONICLES.

(From the First Seniors' Year-Book, 1904-5.)

Come back with me to bright September.

The seventh, as we all remember, When from vacation's rest and play, To the dear old school-home we bent our way.

Greeting with joy each well-known face,
And happy once more in the dear old place.

Soon all the pupils, large and small, Assembled in the study hall,
To meet and welcome with hearts sincere.

Our new superior—and just here, With love's silver bell notes and grateful chimes.

We echo those welcomes a thousand times.

When our serious duties we had begun, We found there was little chance for fun.

Although when we went out into the yard
For botanical work, 'twas not half so hard.

One Monday brought us a great surprise,
A change we all deemed very wise, For instead of the weekly points as before.

Once a month we received our class merits' score.

October then came with its privileges rare,
The first of which was a trip to the fair.

Great was our pleasure one of those days.

To hear Mr. Warde rehearse Shakepeare's plays.

The artists on St. Luke's day had a feast;
And lo! their number suddenly increased.

Ah! their hospitality we cannot forget.

Yes, that dear afternoon's a sweet memory.

Next day we went to Barrett hall, Where Warde was again enjoyed by all.

Soon this month fulfilled its perfect round.

With Halloween play and masked ball crowned.

Thus October's golden days were spent,
And with fondness we miss them when they're gone.

—LOUISE McHUGH.

November first, of nineteen four,
All Saints' day opens wide your door.

A feast belonging to us all, Unless from God's grace we should fall.

Then "Poor Souls" our prayers enlist.

With pity that must ever persist, Next the Alumnæ gather 'round.

The Alma Mater with hearts love-bound.

St. Cecilia's feast, it came to pass, That we all attended a grand high mass.

And that afternoon was made full glad,
By a candy pull—an old-time fad.

And each enjoyed her tartly brown, More than if it came from away downtown.

Then all other affairs were thrown in the shade.

Till the jubilee exercises were made.

Our next great treat was Sousa's band, Which every one knows was very grand.

Then pictures of the school were taken, Turning out good despite the shakin'.

For by the time the spot was chosen, Our heads and feet were almost frozen.

Thanksgiving was a gala day;
And that night the juniors gave a play.

December came with a date to spare, Miss Babcock and Monsieur Beaucare.

Then examination had its time, When our courage soared to heights sublime.

And with two or three books under each arm.

When these ordeals all were safely o'er Kind Father-Roeer stepped to the door.

And invited the seniors out that evening to see how All Hallow's boys receive.

Of course we returned the compliment And invitations gladly sent.

To our next affair, the Christmas play, Thus the school-time happily glided away.

And the long-looked-for holidays came at last;
But they, too, were soon a thing of the past.

January brought us together again;
And the chronicle takes up her pen to tell.

The Symphony concert we could not afford To omit, nor yet the beautiful voice Of Melba, singer of the wide-world's choice.

Thus far, our year we've sung in rhyme, So we'll bid you adieu till some other time.

—JULIA McCUE.

OGDEN ITEMS.

Special Meeting of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Perhaps the largest meeting on record of the Children of Mary of St.
Joseph's congregation is that of last Thursday evening, held at Sacred Heart academy. Over seventy members responded to the call of Rev. F. M.
Cushnahan for a special meeting, and their earnest, animated manner betokened their readiness to undertake anything that would promote the welfare of the society. Rev. Father Cushnahan presided at the meeting, and expressed the gratification he felt at the spiritual progress of the sodality and the hopes he entertained for its still greater growth and progress.

Various matters bearing on the development of the organization were discussed and suggestions offered to further enhance its usefulness.

A Thought-Provoking Lecture.

(Professor S. H. Clarke at Sacred Heart Academy.)

In this age of speed and so-called progress a thought-provoking lecture talk such as Professor Clarke of Chicago university gave the pupils of Sacred Heart academy March 11, means much to reflecting minds. The erudite lecturer is too well known to need comment, and the ease with which he holds the attention of the youngest as well as those somewhat advanced in years, displays his mastership as a teacher as well as his power as a reader.

"The Printed Page" was the significant theme around which Professor Clarke's lecture revolved, and with deep thought, striking beauty and intense interest. He handled the theme with all the inclusiveness of touch for which he is noted. With marked fluency his excellent points by forceful reiterations of cameo-gems in verse.

By way of illustrating what a poem might hold for one who brought to it a poet's mind, he read and re-read Allingham's dainty little lyric, "The Fairies," and made his hearers see the picture as the imaginative Irish word-painter had painted it, with marked power and perfect interpretation he read two poems by Edward R. Gill, "Opportunity" and "Life," while he illustrated perfectly the charm and rhythm of verse by his exquisite rendition of Poe's "Annabel Lee." Browning's "Ride From Aix to Ghent" and several other lyrics of pronounced rhythm.

The sonnet touch of genius was revealed in Wordsworth's sonnet "The World is Too Much With Us." For the entertainment of the younger pupils he spent a few minutes in reading and reciting minutes of real enjoyment for all who find in the study of literature what Professor Clarke desires they should see and feel—the uplifting force of the beautiful.

Heart Tribute to St. Joseph.

Deep in our souls O glorious St. Joseph, Re-echo clear thy cherished name, But when thy sorrows we recall Our heart-strings voice a minor strain.

Chosen of God from all our race, Thy deep, unmov'd humility, Has won for thee a chosen place Close to the Blessed Trinity.

O Foster Father, cherished one, Designed to guide thro' exile's land Mary beloved—and Mary's Son, Thy children, guide with loving hand.

And gently lead through earth's dark ways
And through life's exile dread and sorrow.

Nor cease thy guidance till thou place Each client with thy Foster Child.

With deeper claims of special care "St. Joseph's" children throng thy shrine Loved patron, may thy graces be,
As stepping stones to Love Divine.

And since our Mother Church transforms,
Her laiken tones to glad refrains,
To sound thy praises and thy fame, We gladly join her joyous strains.

Academy, Ogden, Utah.

Wedding Bells.

WEDDING BELLS.

On last Saturday evening the Rev.
D. Kiley joined in the bonds of holy matrimony, Miss Catherine O'Brien and Mr. James McMartin. Both of the high contracting parties are old residents of Salt Lake, and are well and favorably known to a wide circle of our citizens.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary O'Brien.

INFORMATION WANTED.

STANTON—Information is required of the present whereabouts of Patrick Stanton, formerly of Sedalia House, Ballyraggett, County Kilkenny, Ireland, who left home in 1892 and was last heard of in Denver, Colorado. He is the son of the late Henry Stanton, J. P., and his widow, Margaret tamton. Write to M. Murphy, Solicitor, Kilkenny.

GRAND OPERA FESTIVAL.

Lohengrin, Carmen, Tannhauser and La Boheme to be given Elaborate Productions at the Salt Lake Theatre.

Society and music lovers in Salt Lake and surrounding cities who have been looking forward to the coming first visit of the celebrated Savage English grand opera company and orchestra will be pleased to learn that four of the most popular operas in the entire repertoire of this superb company of English-speaking artists are to be given new and elaborate scenic productions at the Salt Lake theatre, beginning Monday, March 27, with a special matinee on Wednesday. This will be the only opportunity afforded music lovers in Utah to hear the celebrated songbirds, with this famous organization, together with the all-American chorus of seventy youthful, well-trained voices, full grand opera orchestra of forty picked musicians under two conductors, and elaborate scenic investiture for each of the operatic in its repertoire. The company numbers over 150 people, and requires a special train of fourteen cars for its transportation. To present four of the famous masterpieces by the world's greatest composers will tax the stage facilities of the Salt
